SESSION '91-92.

N. S. Davis, M. D., LL. D., Dean.

The thirty-third annual course of instruction will begin Tuesday, September 29th, 1891, and close Tuesday, April 26th, 1892. The course of instruction is graded, students being divided into first, second and third year classes, with four year course optional.

Applicants for admission must present diplomas or certificates from recognized colleges, schools of science, academies, high schools, or teachers' certificates of the first or second grade, or sustain a preliminary examination.

The method of instruction is conspicuously practical and is applied in the wards of Mercy Hospital daily, at the bedside of the sick, and in the amphitheater of St. Luke's Hospital, also in the amphitheaters of the College and in the South Side dispensary attached to the College, where upwards of fourteen thousand patients are treated annually.

Fees: $100 a year, which covers everything, except a deposit against breakage in Chemical Laboratory, amounting to $5 first year and $3 second year (both returnable). Hospitals: Mercy, $6 for third year students; St. Luke's' $5 for second year students. No fee is charged for the extra quizzing of the Students done in classes.

Praefatio.

MOST editors have a way of making a preface a long and lengthy apology for something they didn't do. Having had an experience of many moons in editorial work, we have decided that it would be best to make just as few excuses as possible. We will therefore ask to be excused only for a couple of omissions that we have allowed for good and sufficient reasons. One of the literary societies and polka joints here bought up all Kellogg & Co.'s supply of 30 cent stock cuts to put in a new pamphlet which they have just published; so we have been obliged to omit the elegant assortment of stock cuts that we had intended to insert in this issue. By a unanimous vote of the Literary Board the intended steel engraving of C. H. Z. has been omitted, owing to the aforesaid pamphlet having discussed that gentleman in full.

The reader will no doubt notice a total absence of funnyness as he peruses the pages of our book. For this we have no excuse to make. Everything has been tried—Moxie, Fem Sem coffee (a pleasant tonic), Columbia beef-steak, and e'en a keg from Rose Hill—all to no purpose.

The medium through which one looks usually gives coloring to the object seen. Hence our hope is that THE SYLLABUS may be the medium through which the public may form an opinion of the average college student at Northwestern. All such persons are advised, if they read this at all, to proceed only as far as the labor may prove agreeable and no further. If our way of saying things is not pleasing to you, let it be known, and you shall be left in peace—even by our business manager.

In preparing this edition of the College Annual it has been the aim of the editors to beautify the book as far as possible, and we hope that the increased number and quality of the cuts will be an agreeable feature of the work. We have unqualified pleasure in announcing that the year has been one of great prosperity to our University. Our new President has won the praises of all the students, and has proven himself to be the right man in the right place. The number of students is steadily on the increase. Plans for several new buildings are being discussed. Next year a radical change is to be made in the method of classification and system of marking. The reputation of Northwestern in foot-ball and on the diamond has been maintained, and athletics in general are wide awake; a bright future is in store for Northwestern, and, if our book will but become an inspiration to anyone to seek this grand seat of learning for their future Alma Mater, our labors will be more than repaid.

Memory's Vision.

Sweet evening has kissed golden sunshine good-night,
  And tucked it away in its low trundle-bunk ;
But forgotten the minstrel, and left him to write
  With his gas-jet untrimmed, and his goose-quill dead drunk.
E'en the fairies of sleep the confusion enhance,
  By a special demurrer to each retrospection ;
I appeal to the muse, but she's gone to a dance,
  And left me to patch up my torn recollection.

Let us linger awhile, and consider the past,
  With its failures and gloom, its successes and cheer ;
Let us scatter the mists that are gathering fast
  To hide from our vision these memories dear.
Through a rift in the mist, there are visions that glide
  Down the stream of remembrances flowing unbroken,
Of a school-room and students—recall names with pride !
  Of success undeveloped each one is a token.

The call is for Bowman,—he springs to his feet,
  The deep flush of confidence mantling his brow ;
That lurid adornment, however, is,—" Kindly repeat ;"
  He was right, but,—he isn't so confident now.
The practice is common, and often allowed,
  To amend the first answer to each declaration :
Ere discovery he made, each one waits till a cloud
  Be removed from the theme, by the chair's explanation.

Who is up ? Oh, that's Milner—he's "one of the boys ;"
  Debonair and fine-looking, and swift in reply ;
Who is hissing ? That's Landis,—he don't like the noise,
  And asks an abatement, the merits to try.
There goes Stedman,—now listen,—you'll hear something new ;
  He's a "lawyer unlicensed,"—but that doesn't matter ;—
He appeals to his seatmate to help pull him through,
  And, "a pretty good guess," he remarks to the latter.

The sage of the great Wyaconda is next,—
  "In that case," he says, "interpleaders withdraw"—
Then pauses to think, lest he weaken the text,
  And overrule doctrines well settled as law.
"It was so held in Michigan," Reed will declare,
  As he scratches his eye with his hand, and looks flurried;
Then his smile is transformed to a sad, vacant stare,
  Emblematic of where his last hopelet lies buried.

That demure looking fellow who sits up in front,
  Is a cowboy untamed, from the wild, woolly west;
He likes a good round-up, or maverick hunt,
  Yet has a kind feeling for wrongs unredressed.
Now Reber is speaking, and says that a trust
  Is a creature of fraud, so the old authors wrote us;
He objects to a jury, and thinks it unjust,
  To cite constitutional law, without notice.

There are others, of course, who should mention receive,
  From Clarke down to Westwood, and Ludington, too,
And gentlemanly Ireland, who makes one believe
  Earlswood totters are stylish, though worn by so few.
U. C. L. is their pride, and they'll never forget
  The struggles encountered to master its knowledge,
And the faces of classmates, whom daily they met,
  As companions and friends, during life at the college.

A Medical Medley.

ENVELOPED in fumes of H_2S and wading in M. U. D.$_4$, ad malleolam, the prophetic vision of one "Doc." wandered, in somnia, adown the isles of the dim rose-hued future in the course B. O. D. F. I., and lo! he beheld at no far distant day the time when the wily middle man will cash in his glassware, supplemented by that of his neighbor and likewise strengthened from the rich stores of the verdant D. J., who hath no faith in locks and keys. And in that day there shall be over much profanity and falling on of necks, and a loud wail shall go up throughout the antero-posterior et transverse diameters of the "lab" of, how Long, how Long.

In that day also shall the face of one Eastman, known to his fellows as "The Shark," broaden in smiles pari passu with the lengthening of other men's faces, and he shall receive as his portion $4.25, together with much praise.

His feelings shall overcome him and he shall be seized with spasm unilateralis orbicularis palpebræ et ophonia. Selah!

Other men shall receive 34 cents, and marvel at the unequality of returns.

And it shall come to pass that on that day the wild and untamed D. J. shall strap on his sandals and start 'cross lots for home; for verily he who dependeth on his "lab" deposit to take him home shall walk. Selah!

* * * P_2 now ready! — —! —!!! Doc. is rudely awakened from his dream and carried along toward the dispensing window. Now, speaking of the dispensing window reminds us of the Dispensary. In 1890, out of 14,000 cases treated there by the students and faculty, 14,643 permanent cures were effected, and the rest are all doing as well as could reasonably be expected.

The multitudes may sing praises to Dr. Koch and his justly celebrated tuberculine if they will, but as for us, give us Mist. 63—ʒj. t. i. d. Mistura 63 has been positively demonstrated to be a specific, not only for phthysis, but also in augeria pectoris, gastroenteritis and poliomyelitis; but, gentle reader, it is no cure at all. Ah, no! Misturæ 72, 84, and 53, are likewise very efficient remedies, as every senior will readily testify.

We have occasion also to call attention to the vast numbers of patients who under the skillful treatment of Herr Dr. Winderscheim have regained their sight and hearing, and all due, my dear sir, to the free and skillful use of boric acid.

The Doctor informs us privately that he has been able, on an average, to cure 100 out of 99 cases of non-suppurative with the same remedy.

As for the various other departments, their success has been not less remarked, but we have time only to refer to the surgical. Astonishing operations are performed there daily by the surgeon in charge, Dr. J. Ross Wilson, who will be glad to see any of you from 2 to 4 P. M.

Henry Wade Rogers, A. M., LL. D.

President and Professor of International and Constitutional Law.

WHEN the strong hand which had held in its firm, friendly grasp the manifold interests of our University lost its power in the weakness which the mightiest cannot withstand, when the royal heart which never forgot to rejoice at our little victories, nor to sympathize in our sorrows, ceased its kindly beating, lips almost feared to whisper, "Where shall be found another in whom all those kingly elements unite?"

But with the hour of need comes the man fitted to take upon himself the burden and to carry on the work. So our University found the right President in Dr. Henry Wade Rogers.

Young, genial, courteous, full of modern, progressive ideas, his bright future stands out bravely against a background of years of scholarly attainment. Comparatively few as these years have been, they bear witness proudly to the genius and energy of the President who has come to share in the prosperity which, we trust, the coming years hold for the Northwestern University.

Born in 1853 in the State of New York, his college course was begun at Hamilton College in that State, the last three years of which were completed at the University of Michigan, which later conferred upon him the degree of Bachelor of Arts, and later that of Master of Arts. His study of law found its reward in his admission to the bar of Michigan, and his association with Judge Cooley, then Dean of the Law Department of the State University. But his success was only begun, for upon the voluntary withdrawal of Judge Cooley from his important post, Dr. Rogers was immediately appointed to the position of Dean of the Law School. His success from the day when he began his work until his resignation was phenomenal, and the steady growth of the institution testifies to the inspiring influence of its head.

Side by side with his legal practice has gone the literary work, which has placed Dr. Rogers among the first of those who write upon questions pertaining to law—as contributor to periodicals like the Forum and the North American Review, and also as editor of leading legal journals.

The administration of Dr. Rogers has opened auspiciously. Although accepting the presidency at the beginning of the school year, he was not formally inaugurated until Thursday, Feb. 19, upon which occasion the keys and charter of the institution were formally presented him. The large-minded, liberal views to which he gave utterance in his inaugural address were a happy prophecy of the future. While acknowledging the present strength and growth of the University, he recognized also its needs. Among other notable sentiments these are especially worthy repeating:

"The establishment in the Northwestern University of a scientific course parallel to the classical, and leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science, is a recognition in part, but only in part, of the needs of our time. It is, in my judgment, desirable that there should be established here, as soon as the funds are provided for it, a college of civil, mechanical, and electrical engineering. We must recognize the fact that, within the century, our civilization and manner of life have been transformed, our conditions marvellously changed, and that this change demands of our University corresponding changes in curriculums of study. The University should aspire to furnish that complete and generous education which fits a man to perform all the affairs of peace and war. I believe that opportunity should be provided in this Uuiversity for a systematic and thorough study of political and social science. Our students should receive instruction in the government of cities, and be made acquainted with the excellencies of foreign systems and municipal administration. They should be instructed in theories and methods of taxation, and in the management of public debts, as well as in all matters pertaining to the currency and to questions of finance. They must be made familiar with the industrial history of the country, as well as with the history of economic theories, the history of diplomacy and of political ideas. They ought to study the great questions pertaining to governmental regulation of railways, as well as those relating to the management of penal reformatory and charitable institutions. They ought to understand the systems of civil service adopted in foreign countries, and should know something of comparative constitutional law, as well as of the comparative legislation of different States and countries."

Dr. Rogers has come to the Northwestern University at a time when its possibilities seem almost infinite. The years in their swift turning evolve the best from whatever has in it the germs of good for the human heart. And now in step with other great issues of the day comes that of education. It, too, has felt the impulse of these later years of inquiry. The idea of the University is being worked out in all its grandeur and breadth in America. And we hold the conviction that with such a leader, with such a beginning, and in such an age, our own University will not fail in the fulfillment of the prophecies of those to whom its halls, its sun-touched turrets, and its leaf-strewn campus are dear.

The Rubicon.

(NORTH OF THE UNIVERSITY.)

No war host boldly winds across
  With gleaming shields to-day;
Never a shining lance nor helm
  Gathers the sunbeams' play.

No sentinel grim keeps vigil,
  But purple asters nod,
And for proudly flaunting banners
  Waves feathery golden-rod.

Through the air so sweet and peaceful
  No war-cry dread is heard,
Only the hum of roving bee,
  Or note of woodland bird,

Or sound of waves that lightly break,
  Or softly rustling trees
Stirred by the raindrops' pattering,
  Or light-winged, flitting breeze.

Spring covers its banks with beauty;
  Near fern-leaves wet with dew
Quivers the delicate wind-flower,
  Peeps the violet blue.

And summer and glowing autumn
  Toss loving kisses down,
Till fairy snowflakes drop their white
  On slopes of faded brown.

Over the worn old mossy bridge
  Where sunbeams love to play
(As o'er the old-time Rubicon),
  Pass human hearts to-day.

And many a conflict rages,
  And battles are lost and won,
And heaven dawns in waiting lives,
  Crossing the Rubicon.

Scraps.

Dr. Marcy (in zoölogy): "The tail of a lobster is so constructed that when it is thrust backward it is fan-shaped, and when it is drawn in again it——"

Mailley (prompting): "It shuts up."

Dr. M.: "Yes, it shuts up. And by the way, that's a fine thing to do sometimes." (All snicker).

Kind of food the Thetas like—Rice.

First Student: "Bet you two to one that Tommy M-l-d-ng gets married inside of two years."

Second Student: "Well, I won't take you. Haven't the least doubt in the world."

The Freshman class have issued an injunction against Prof. Moore for going with the Freshman girls.

I loath, abhor, detest, despise,
Abominate dried-apple pies.
I like good bread, I like good meat,
Or anything that's good to eat;
But of all poor grub beneath the skies,
The poorest is dried-apple pies.
Give me the toothache or sore eyes,
But don't give me dried-apple pies.
The farmer takes his gnarliest fruit,
'Tis wormy, bitter, and hard to boot;
They leave the hulls and make me cough,
And don't take half the peeling off.
Then on a dirty cord 'tis strung,
And there it serves a roost for flies,
Until it's made up into pies.
Tread on my corns and tell me lies,
But don't pass me dried-apple pies.

"What kind of coffee do they have at the Fem Sem, Miss Swail?"

Miss Swail: "What is the German word for 'bitter?'"

Burton (translating Xenophon): "He counseled with—"

Prof. (interrupting): "Confused, sir? He asked advice of—"

Burton: "You make me tired, Professor."

Chorus of Students (sotto voce): "Amen."

Dr. Marcy: "All men are liars."

Vieth: Talem orationem est exorsus—"He let out his oration."

R. K. Nisbet's middle name is Kissem. But the girls say he doesn't.

Prof. Baird (prompting): "Now, then, Eipas—"

Hemenway (absent-minded): "I make it next." (He goes it alone with the Prof.)

À là Hiawatha.

Near Lake Michigan, the lordly,
Almost dipping in her waters,
Stands a well-known western hamlet,
Five blocks northward from its center,
Close to Rubicon romantic,
Widely known indeed as Euclid,
Stands a college called Northwestern.
Of her fame oft told in story,
Of the number of her students,
Of her fem sems, sweet and lovely,
We in truth need not mention.

Now into this college lately
Strange to say there came the Injun,
Came with war paint and with feathers,
With his tomahawk and scalper,
Came with spear-head and with arrow,
And did settle in our hamlet,
Where an Injun ne'er had entered.

Whence these children of the prairies?
"From the valley of Wyoming,
From the groves of Tuscaloosa,
From the far off Rocky Mountains,"
From all over came the warriors,
Came the warriors of the nations,
Came the Towlewares and John Scotts,
Came the Adees and the Corbins,
Came the Blackfeet and Ben Marches,
Came the Leaches and the Johnstons,
Came the Massasoits and Earnhearts,
To this place of hope and refuge,
To this their future Alma Mater.
Here they found and met their brothers,

Here they called the other warriors,
Here they formed a league 'gainst Greekdom.
They would not become base fratmen ;
They would be mere independents.
Did they do as they intended,
Scatter all ye frats to four winds,
As by roaring Notus wafted,
Drive them headlong from the college,
Strike with thunder and with lightning
Like when Jove doth rage in anger?
No. For soon began to wonder
And to think, this tribe so savage,
Greeks were not so bad as storied,
And that strife was far from friendship ;
So the Fratman feeling nothing,
And of strife the "Barb" awearied,
Once again were joined in friendship.
So, dear muse, sweet Hiawatha,
When thou mak'st thy journey hither,
Turn thine eyes with joyous favor
On the fratman and the Injun,
They whose hands we've joined in friendship
In the course of this our story.

ROOMS TO LET — DORMITORY — Students, here you have 'em. Several choice rooms left. Automatic sweeper and dust-settler. Fires kindled and beds made by machinery. Halls guaranteed to be covered with dust not less than a foot deep at all seasons. When it gets too uncomfortably noticeable the doors and windows are opened and the wind allowed to blow it out. The temperature does not vary far from zero except when the sun shines, at which times ice will be furnished free of charge. Entire building lighted by kerosene. P. S.—Billiards and sample-room in basement.

WANTED — Men, any kind and any number.
Address KITTEN & Co., Care of Fem Sem.

FOR SALE CHEAP—Owing to lack of support, we have been obliged to publish this edition of the "Arrow" at a great loss. As this will positively be the last edition of this publication, we offer for sale all the old type, cheap stock cuts, and choice chromos used in the present edition. The publishers of the SYLLABUS would do well to notice this offer. Address publishers of the "Arrow."

A B-A-R-G-A-I-N — Look! Hear! Here you have 'em! My "Plymouth Rock pants." Will sell at a great reduction from cost price. Enquire of C. H. ZIMMERMAN, '91.

FEM SEM BULLETIN—To Gentlemen Callers: Office hours 7 to minus light P. M. Visitors are requested not to be alarmed at any sounds that they may hear. The noises which may be wafted to their organs of hearing do not proceed from a steam piano. Our lady students are mostly very choice singers, but occasionally one may be found with an abnormally developed lung. Hence cause of sounds. (See Prof. Cook's Lectures on Sound). The wave vibrations are not at all injurious, and if the caller will steady his nerves with a small piece of Fem Sem cake no uncomfortable results will follow. Too prolonged exposure, however, will have ill effects, and the visitor is warned to depart before the lights grow too dim; for "the gobl'ns 'll git yer ef yer don't watch out."

A Freshman's Idyl.

Come over, come over, to the Fem Sem to-night,
If ye are my laddie, bold Jamie White.

Here's "Jennie" McGinty and "Nettie" McFlinn
Who say you're faint-hearted and dasn't come in.

But the great glowering building, though it looks like a jail,
I know will na' scare ye, or make ye turn pale.

For stout is your back from husking the corn,
But the heart 'neath your homespun is sad and forlorn.

Come over, come over, to the Fem Sem to-night,
If ye are my laddie, brave Jamie White.

I see him, I see him, he's washed up his face—
With a nonchalant air he approaches the place.

Oh, his hand-me-down pants bag out at the knees;
His tow-hair, well parted, is greased up to please.

* * * * * * *

Ho! ho! my brave seniors, ye may roar as ye pass,
But ye canna' keep James from his new chosen lass.

He's stopping, oh, mama! Ne'er fear, Jim, ne'er fear;
It's not very hard, though at first it seems queer.

He's started; I see him. Oh, James, you're not bright,
For when you once get here it's just "out of sight."

Help! help! Ah, he's looking; now "close up your face,"
Don't stare at me that way before the whole place."

Now cling to the fence, now pull down your vest,
You'll learn pretty soon as well as the rest.

Oh, come up to the Fem Sem, but once come to me,
Ah, then you will find how sweet it will be.

He's sneaking, he's snuck; oh, dear, what a fool!
Ye must change these bad habits if ye go to this school.

Half a block down the street he stops to look back,
Then pricks up his courage for another attack.

He reaches the door and pulls at the bell—
Oh, Lord! it seems just like his funeral knell.

Come, sitzen, sie sich, you're a sight to behold,
What made you stay out there so long in the cold?

He catches his breath, tho' with club onions 'tis strong,
But cannot explain what made him so long.

Ye've done a brave act, soon ye'll shine as a light,
Even "Zimmie" won't beat you, dear J. Perkins White.

Calendar.

1890-1891.

SEPTEMBER.

17. Term opens. Prof. Baird delivers his lecture on Frats number one.
22. New Frat appears, followed by Baird's lecture number two.
23. Prof. Hatfield gets his annual hair cut.
24. Class prayer meetings postponed indefinitely owing to want of chaplains.
25. Bob loses his pony and dies of grief.
26. Harker calls on Miss Kennedy.

OCTOBER.

1. Beazell gets a shave.
3. Miss Holderman is embarrassed.
6. Burr Weeden calls on Miss Mulvane.
8. Baldy skips recitation. Springs a new joke next day.
11. Van Sant gets his picture taken.
12. Miss Gloss: "If that is Mr. Shuman tell him I am out."

DECEMBER.

1. Miss Jennings dreams that she and "Watt" Dyche are on a farm together hoeing potatoes.
2. Watt gets wind of the dream.
3. Watt goes to Chicago and purchases a copy of the Angelus.
4. Beazell gets another shave—fact!
8. Al Henry attends a recitation.
10. Adams slides to third on his semi-tone.
15. Phelps works his oratund.
17. Morse entertains the Seniors with "O'Connell." Divides his attention equally between Adams' semi-tone, Phelps' oratund, and Shuman's gestures. Class seized with violent convulsions.

JANUARY.

7. Second term begins. New rules of conditions announced. Dr. Sheppard follows with opening prayer: "We thank thee, our dear Heavenly Father, for the many happy conditions with which we are surrounded."
8. Nisbet matches his mustache with a new overcoat.
9. Prof. Hough adopts a new brand of fine cut.
12. Shuman discusses original package law with Dr. Rogers.
14. "Instruction will not be given in chapel exercises until all term bills are paid."
